EYES UP – BIG-NIGHT ENERGY, RIGHT WHERE YOU ARE

Eyes Up are a new live band with a simple aim: to bring the buzz, musicianship and excitement of a top-tier live show into the places people actually love to go — pubs, clubs and intimate venues — and to share a great night with everyone in the room.

The band is made up entirely of professional musicians, each with long careers on stage and in studios, but Eyes Up was formed for one reason above all else: the sheer love of playing live. This is about connection, energy, and enjoying the music together — not ego, not posturing, just a proper gig where the band and the crowd are part of the same experience.

Fronted by West End vocal performers, the band is backed by guitar, piano, bass and drums, bringing together well over 100 years of collective professional experience. That experience shows — not in flashiness, but in tight grooves, confident performances and a set that flows naturally, keeping the room engaged from the first song to the last.

What sets Eyes Up apart is their original material, something audiences don't often get to hear in pub and club settings. Their songs are an eclectic and accessible mix of rock, soul, up-tempo blues and reggae, written to feel good, move people and sound great live. These originals sit comfortably alongside carefully chosen crowd-pleasing covers — the songs people know, love and want to sing along to — creating a set that feels both fresh and familiar.

Every Eyes Up show delivers two one-hour sets, paced to build atmosphere, lift the room and keep the night moving. Whether people want to dance, sing, or simply enjoy high-quality live music with friends, the band's focus is always the same: making sure everyone has a great time.

Eyes Up aren't trying to reinvent the wheel — they're here to remind people just how good live music can feel when it's played with heart, experience and genuine love for the moment.

Eyes Up - Come for the music. Stay for the night.
